PROGRESSIVE BELMONT APPROVES DEVELOPMENT WORK

Its People Attend an Enthusiastic Booster Meeting at That Place Last Saturday Night.

The town of Belmont, located half way between San Mateo and Redwood City, was the scene of a large and enthusiastic booster meeting held under the auspices of the San Mateo County Development Association last Saturday night.

The meeting was called to order in the assembly hall in the school house there by Asa Hull, who represents Belmont and San Carlos on the board of governors of the association. He said it was his duty to see the people of that locality to urge upon them to become members of the association and contribute $1 per month to aid it in its work. He had induced the association to hold this meeting at Belmont in order that the residents could learn its objects.

Mr. Hull then introduced Rev. W. A. Brewer, president of the association, as chairman of the meeting.

Mr. Brewer said: "We appreciate very much the presence of ladies here to help us in this movement. The board of governors does not make any promises, but will do its best. Things are not right in this county. Other counties about the bay are prosperous but San Mateo is not. We ask the people of this county to join the development association. Four municipalities—South San Francisco, San Mateo, Hillsborough and Redwood City—have contributed $25 a month each to the association. Burlingame has contributed $10 a month, but later will increase the amount. There are now 250 members in the association. We need more. We want $1000 a month. We want every citizen in Belmont to sign the petition to the board of supervisors asking it to contribute to the association. We want everybody to get together in this movement. The railroad passenger rates down the Peninsula must be reduced."

Geo. W. Lovie of Redwood City was the next speaker. He said he was heartily in accord with the purposes of the association. He told of the efforts that had been made in the county several years ago by the San Mateo County Promotion League. That organization could not induce the railroad company to reduce its rates. Since that time the county had materially built up. He compared railroad rates in this county with those of other localities about the bay. Everybody must be interested in the development of San Mateo county. It will be to the advantage of the railroad company to reduce its rates.

W. J. Martin of this city then followed. He complimented the ladies for the interest they were taking in the association. The Spring Valley Water Company has control of a large amount of water in this county, but no community in this county can obtain any of it. There should be an exhibit of the products of this county in the rooms of the California Development Board in the Ferry Building, San Francisco, and literature concerning its resources, too. He said there was no place anywhere that could raise better apples than those grown on the coast side of this county. Millions of dollars had been spent by the United States government to improve the water front on the other side of the bay, but on this side nothing has been done. The fact remains that this county is being throttled by discrimination in railroad rates. We have a law against discrimination in freight rates. Why should we not have a law preventing discrimination in passenger rates. You must make a united effort to get what you want. The business about the bay will materially increase when the Panama Canal is completed.

In its folders the railroad company says it runs 615 trains daily on the other side of the bay. The real estate men use it in their business. It is pretty near time to equalize things in this county.

The next speaker was Chas. M. Morse, editor of the San Mateo Leader. He said he was glad to see the children present at this meeting. The meeting was an educational one. He hoped the rising generation would be superior to the present one in civic affairs. He believed in thought force. We want it in this county. We are working for the community's good. We want to arouse the faith of the people of the county in this movement. The board of governors is firm in the matter of reducing railroad passenger rates. This county cannot develop speedily unless transportation rates are materially reduced. We cannot wait any longer. He said the condition of the roads of the county had been severely criticised in San Francisco. The roads in San Francisco leading into this county are execrable. What do we gain by this effort? Values are created by increased population. The success of this enterprise depends upon unification. There is a large body of water lying in front of us. Its tide lands are owned by private individuals. All sections should get together and this movement will be a success.

Captain H. N. Royden of San Mateo said that Mrs. E. H. Harriman was seeking a site in California where a great university could be built in honor of the memory of her late husband. He said there was a suitable site in Belmont that could be obtained very cheap.

A resolution offering the site to Mrs. Harriman was introduced by Asa Hull and adopted.

Secretary Fred H. Green was authorized to send a night letter to Mrs. Harriman offering the site for consideration.

The resolution is as follows:

Resolved, that the board of governors of the San Mateo County Development Association be, and hereby are, authorized and requested to present to Mrs. Edward H. Harriman the unsurpassed advantages of Belmont as a location for the new university that she is preparing to endow, and that the attorney of this association, George C. Ross, be directed to

LOCAL HAPPENINGS TOLD IN BRIEF

D. O. Daggett has returned from his trip to Los Angeles.

The Doak sheet steel company continues moving its pipe works in San Francisco to this city.

Mrs. C. F. Hamsher has returned from a very enjoyable trip to Southern California.

H. Gaerdes has returned from a trip to Los Angeles, San Diego and Lower California.

Albert Dieu has returned to this city to live after a stay of a few months at Higbee, Missouri.

There were many inquiries for vacant houses this week from employees at the new locomotive works.

Albert Dieu appeared before Recorder Rehberg last Monday charged with battery upon his wife, plead guilty and was fined $15 which he paid.

Miss Jennie Vujetch of Cottonwood, this state, a former resident of this city, is paying a month's visit to Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Cunningham.

C. C. Holt, general manager of the Union Meat Company (one of the Swift interests) at Portland, Oregon, was a visitor to this city last Monday.

City Marshal Henry W. Kneese returned on Wednesday from a few weeks sojourn at Byron Springs for his health, which is slightly improved.

Watch for the reward of $10,000 to be given by Metropolitan Club at its dance on the 17th of this month. Keep this date in mind. This is going to be some dance.

The city board of trustees held a special meeting last Monday night and adopted resolutions ordering sidewalk work to be done on Aspen avenue and San Bruno road.

Mrs Louise Estivelz plead guilty in Recorder Rehberg's court last Monday to a charge of disturbing the peace of Mrs. Albert Dieu and was fined $10 which was paid.

Frank Amorischi, found guilty of a misdemeanor charge of using vile language to Mrs. Mollinari in Recorder Rehberg's court on Friday, May 26th, was fined $15 which he paid.

C. J. Hynding has built a new fence for his cottages on Lux avenue which materially improves their appearance. Mr. Hynding has great faith in the future of this city and an advocate for improvements.

The suit of W. S. Taylor against Harry E. Styles for $60.54 will come up for trial in Recorder Rehberg's court next Monday. Styles has filed an affidavit claiming exemption from the alleged debt under provision No. 10 section 690, Code of Civil Procedure.

Thousands of people congregated at the cemeteries last Tuesday (Memorial Day). Many graves were decorated with flowers and American flags and the scenes were beautiful. The crowds were received and handled with care by the cemetery authorities and there were no mishaps during the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Perham and Mrs. E. N. Brown and daughter Evelyn returned on Sunday from a de-procure options from all the land owners whose property may be included in the area deemed most suitable for this purpose by the board of governors.

A letter describing the proposed location is to follow.

San Mateo Development Association. Rev. W. A. Brewer, president.

Fred A. Green, secretary.

Upon invitation of James T. O'Keefe, it was decided to hold the next meeting at Menlo Park to-night.

At the close of the meeting many Belmont residents signed applications for membership in the association.

On account of lack of railroad facilities, those who attended the meeting from San Mateo, Burlingame and this city were compelled to charter vehicles after the meeting to take them to San Mateo where they continued their journey home in the electric car.

NEW CHAPEL FOR HOLY CROSS CEMETERY

Work is now going on at the Holy Cross Cemetery digging deep trenches for foundations for a large chapel to be built a short distance from the main entrance to the grounds. Many men are now employed in this work. Judging from the ground space taken up by these trenches the building will be a large one.

It is estimated that it will cost several thousand dollars and will take a year or more to erect it.

No detailed information could be learned at the cemetery as to the size and cost of the structure.

FRATERNAL ORDERS

U. A. O. D.

The picnic given by Olive Grove and Cypress Circle of Colma at Lovechen Gardens, Sunday last, while not the success anticipated, brought together a large number of Druids. South San Francisco Grove was well represented. It was a jolly affair. Dancing, good music, wheel of fortune, and games constituted the amusements heartily indulged in by all. Professor W. J. Savage, Eugene Rodgers, Rudolph Meyer, with the assistance of lady members of the circle, saw to it that pleasure and profit was not only the purpose of the picnic, and that their efforts were successful goes without saying.

F. O. E.

Tuesday next, June 6th, Past Worthy President Newbert of Aerie No. 5, will pay a visit to 1473. Brother Newbert will be accompanied by several prominent Eagles, and it is requested that a large number of members be on hand to give them a fitting welcome. The secretary will be in attendance in Lodge Hall at 7 o'clock p.m. to receive dues, and wishing to close up picnic account promptly, would be glad if members will assist the secretary to that end, by paying for tickets disposed of and returning those unsold soon as possible.

W. O. W.

The social tendered by officers and members of Progress Camp to officers, members and friends of Vella Flora Circle, Women of Wooldraft, took place Wednesday evening last, and was a very enjoyable affair. Lodge Hall has seldom contained a more sociable crowd.

Randall R. Howard contributes a beautifully illustrated descriptive article on the Volcanic Cave Wonders of the Northwest.

Every Westerner and every old-timer will enjoy "The Pioneer Reminiscences" of George Collier Robbins, who gives a very readable account of the beginnings of many of the prominent men of the West.

John E. Lathrop tells in his article, "The West and National Capital," many facts not generally known, as to the influences that direct legislation at our capital.

Altogether, the June number is one of the strongest that the Pacific Monthly has published for some time.

lightful trip through the San Joaquin Valley as far south as Hanford in Mr. Perham's splendid new Crawford automobile. Miss Ina Perham who accompanied the party on the trip, remained in Hanford to visit friends.

Geo. F. McDonald will leave here on Wednesday next for a trip back to his old home place in Belfast, Maine, that he has not seen for nearly forty years. He expects to be gone about two months. He goes east by the Denver and Rio Grande route, and will return by the Canadian Pacific. George, The Enterprise wishes you a safe and enjoyable journey.

Last Sunday the South City defeated the Burlingames in a game of baseball by a score of 17 to 6 in seven innings. The visitors caught an early train to stop the slaughter. The feature of the game was a home run by Petersen. Cooney and Ramius, new local players, showed up fine. Sullivan of the South City pitched good and steady and was getting better as the game went on. The South City's next victims will be the Belmonts.

A genial landlord has left us. The Alpine Hotel, run by Nick Baggens for five years past is now in other hands. Nick certainly has a host of friends. Many a man entered his place hungry during his tenancy, but did not leave it in that condition. Nick is now located at 3478, 25th and Valencia streets, San Francisco. He hopes all his old friends will call on him occasionally and expressed a wish that they might have more than fare when visiting the city.

FRATERNAL BROTHERHOOD

A meeting of the members of the Fraternal Brotherhood was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Brown in this city last Wednesday evening. R. N. Chappel, district manager, appointed W. H. Cooper as deputy to take up the work of instituting a lodge in this city. At present there are twelve members of the brotherhood here. By the addition of twelve more a charter will be obtained. This will be the only lodge of its kind in this city, as both men and women are admitted to the lodge room. Six applications for membership have been received by Mr. Cooper. When six more are obtained a lodge will be formed.

METHODIST CHURCH.

The Sunday school will meet at 10:30 a.m. sharp. On Sunday evening the pastor will speak on "Ezra the Nation Builder." There will be special music. We were pleased to see so many out last Sunday evening. Let us fill the church Sunday. Come.

Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. Do not forget this service. Rev. D. Ralston, pastor.

South San Francisco Land and Improvement Co.

FOUNDERS OF THE CITY OF SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

THE SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO LAND AND IMPROVEMENT COMPANY designed in its original plan to make of South San Francisco a great manufacturing center. With that object in view, it originally purchased 3500 acres of land in San Mateo County, on the bay front, five miles south of the City of San Francisco. Since the original purchase, the company has added greatly to its holdings by the purchase of large tracts of adjoining lands, giving to it a perfect environment for the complete development of a great manufacturing city.

The faith which this Company had in its enterprise has been manifest to everyone by the large expenditure it has made in the development of this property. Every foundation which goes to make a perfect condition for manufacture has been already solidly installed, and is a rapidly growing city; it is a railroad terminal; it is on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and accessible to all railroads; has deep water communication; owns and operates for its industries a railroad connecting with the Southern Pacific and the water front; has electric street car service from factory to Town, and direct to San Francisco; has an Electric Light and Power Company; owns an independent Water Works, and has an abundance of fresh water for factory and house; has wharves and docks; a perfect sewerage system; a Bank and a Town Hall; and a population of over 3000 people an extensive and fine residence district, where everyone may secure lands at reasonable prices and on favorable terms, as homes for themselves and their families.

FACTORY SITES

can be obtained from the South San Francisco Land and Improvement Company on most reasonable terms.

The completion of the Bay Shore Tunnels has placed South San Francisco on the main lines of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and forty passenger trains per day connect it with the outside world.

With the completion of the Dumbarton Bridge and Cutoff, now rapidly being constructed, South San Francisco will have all railroads which center in San Francisco passing through its midst.

Many industries are already established here, chief of which are the Western Meat Company, the Wool Pullery, the Soap Works, the Baden Brick Company, Pacific Jupiter Steel Company, the Steiger Pottery Works, the W. P. Fuller White Lead Works, the South San Francisco Lumber and Supply Company, and other enterprises, all of which are in full operation to-day. The American Smelting and Refining Company has purchased over 300 acres of land in South San Francisco for the purpose of erecting a great plant, which they estimate will cost upwards of $5,000,000. The Doak Sheet Steel Company has purchased a large tract of land and has already commenced the construction of a large rolling mill. Other factories have recently made purchases, and South San Francisco is plainly destined to fulfill all that its promoters had hoped.

The future for South San Francisco is very bright. Soon as the new factories now building start up full blast things will hum in this industrial city. There is no better time than right now to invest in local real estate. Prices are lower than they will ever be again. Through the efforts of the San Mateo County Development Association, the railroad commutation rates now prevailing down the Peninsula will no doubt soon be materially reduced, and of course this city being the first important stop south of San Francisco will be the first to experience the demand that will be caused by such reduction for home sites for people who work in San Francisco. It is only a little more than nine miles from the Southern Pacific depot in San Francisco and takes only seventeen minutes to get here by steam train. It has a progressive board of city trustees. Sidewalks and street improvements are going ahead as fast as they can be ordered, and it will not be long when the public improvements will compare favorably with any city down the Peninsula.

The Santa Cruz News states that the Panama-Pacific Exposition site contest in San Francisco is "getting to be a joke." We second the motion. It is a selfish joke. Some of the "broad-minded" business men of that city are so afraid that business will get away from them that they would like to have the exposition located on Market street. The only logical site for this world's exposition is at Tanforan just south of this city. The free use of over 3000 acres of land has been offered to the exposition company until a year after the close of the exposition, as well as a deed to 100 acres of land or more for permanent buildings. The present transportation facilities to and from the Tanforan site cannot be surpassed in San Francisco. If some of the big men of San Francisco were not so provincial they would not hesitate a moment to indorse this splendid offer. Furthermore, there would be plenty of room here for all sorts of exhibits and concessions, and thereby would attract more people from all over the world than a congested area would in the city proper of San Francisco. In a few years another pleasure ground besides Golden Gate Park will be needed by the metropolis, and the improved Tanforan site could be used for such purpose after the close of the exposition. Another important matter for the consideration of the San Francisco business man is the fact that if the exposition is located at Tanforan it will tend to create large development down the Peninsula and materially increase its population, which of course will mean more business for the mercantile interests of San Francisco. Put the exposition at Tanforan.

The county roads in the first township are gradually being improved by Supervisor Casey. He has been doing considerable work this spring on the Mission and San Pedro roads. He is now macadamizing Mission road in the vicinity of Lomita Park and contracts have been let for new concrete bridges on both the old and new San Pedro roads. Supervisor Casey has taken considerable interest in the good roads movement, and no doubt when these two highways are in good shape he will start in on San Bruno road along the bay shore from the San Francisco county line as far south as San Bruno. Two good highways leading out of San Francisco into this county are needed, as the travel over the first township roads is greater than that of any other township in San Mateo county. Supervisor Casey deserves credit for the good road work he has already done, and The Enterprise hopes he will keep it up.

BOTTLES-NAILS-TIN

Do not throw bottles, broken glass, or cuttings from tin into the street. Many horses may be wounded and spoiled by this thoughtlessness. Do not throw orange peel or banana skins on the sidewalk or in the street. Many accidents have happened to persons from stepping on them. — Humane Press Bureau.

CRIMES AND CASUALTIES

A serious fire broke out in a millinery store in the center of the business district of Cloverdale, and before it could be checked four buildings, with their contents, valued at $18,000, were totally destroyed. Fearing a panic in the crowded opera-house a block away where the high school commencement was being held, no alarm was turned in until the fire had got beyond the control of the few fire-fighters at hand.

Three men have been indicted by the Grand Jury, Los Angeles, on the charge of having attempted to destroy the County Hall of Records with dynamite last September. They are Burt H. Conners, a member of the Structural Iron Workers' Union, the same organization of which John J. McNamara is international secretary; A. B. Maple, a union iron worker, and F. Ira Bender, president of the local union of blacksmiths.

James Barsotti, a resident of San Francisco, was arrested there on Tuesday, charged with having violated the game laws in killing deer during the closed season. The arrest was made by Deputy Game Commissioner Henry Lencioni of Healdsburg. Barsotti paid $25 for his indiscretion several days ago near Sea View on the northwestern Sonoma coast. Barsotti paid $25 for his indiscretion in killing the deer, and this was turned in to Justice of the Peace Charles Raymond of the court of Mendocino township, being enrolled as a fine by the Justice. Barsotti was not compelled to come to Healdsburg to stand trial, but was liberated on payment of the amount mentioned.

Has Strenuous Voyage.

On her recent voyage from Tacoma to the United Kingdom the French bark Montcalm experienced some exceedingly strenuous weather. Foreign advices say that the vessel reached her destination considerably damaged. During heavy weather the windjammer sustained damage to her hull and rigging and a number of sails were carried away.

SOLDIERS KILLED IN NICARAGUAN PLOT

Fortress Blown Up, Probably, By Estrada Supporters

The explosion which occurred in the fortress La Loma on Tiscapa hill, overlooking Managua, Wednesday afternoon, resulted in the killing or wounding of 120 soldiers.

It is officially stated that the blowing up of the fortress was due to a political plot. Many Liberals, supporters of former President Estrada, have been placed under arrest. President Adolfo Diaz, against whom the plot is said to have been directed, his Ministers and others connected with the Government, escaped injury.

So far as a widespread revolutionary movement is concerned, the Government has issued an emphatic denial, but the situation in Managua is as serious as that which arose when the attempts were made against President Estrada last February.

Troops are guarding the palace and public buildings, and detachments of cavalry are patrolling the streets. The capital practically is in a state of siege and 117 bodies have been taken from the ruins, including those of a woman and a boy who were selling fruit to the soldiers.

It is said that the explosion coincided with that of a revolutionary movement at Leon, which failed because of measures taken by the Government.

Nicaragua, probably the most war-torn republic of the tropics, is to be split into two nations if the plans of the Liberal party successfully materialize. This is according to gossip in the Central American colony in New Orleans. The scheme provides for making independent republics out of the Atlantic and Pacific provinces. In the west the Conservatives would rule, while the new Atlantic republic would be dominated by the Liberals, who precipitated the revolution of a year or more ago that resulted in the deposition of Zelaya.

GENERAL NEWS EVENTS

William Waldorf Astor gave to his elder son, Waldorf Astor, a one-half interest in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. It is reported, although with what measure of truth could not be learned, that this is the first step on the part of William Waldorf Astor toward such a distribution of his vast $300,000,000 estate during his lifetime as will avoid the terms of the new inheritance tax law which went into effect last year.

The hours of the present term of the Supreme Court are being watched by the Standard Oil attorneys to stay the dissolution of the company. In practically every big case in years a motion has been made by the losing side for a rehearing and many expect the Standard Oil Company will pursue the usual course. As the court has adjourned until next October, the effect of such a motion, even if not granted, might be far-reaching.

PLOT AGAINST MADERO DETECTED

Insurrecto Chiefs Take Money and Entrap Conspirators

What is looked upon by Francisco I. Madero as a well-laid plot to prevent his reaching Mexico City, to overthrow his leadership and to start a counter-revolution was revealed in El Paso in the arrest of Daniel de Villers of Mexico City. W. F. Dunn, an American, according to a telegram received by Madero's chief military adviser, was also arrested in Monterey, Mexico, by a detective who had trailed him from El Paso, as a party to the plot.

The alleged plot involves certain sums of money which were to have been paid out to Madero's military leaders. Madero, according to the documents given out by him, was fully advised of the scheme and allowed it to be encouraged. A ten days' trailing by detectives then began.

The warrant for the arrest of De Villers was issued by Justice of the Peace E. P. McClintock, of El Paso, on a complaint charging "conspiracy to murder Francisco I. Madero," filed by General Viljoen. De Villers was stopping at an El Paso hotel and was arrested by Deputy Constable Brown. Brown and Viljoen went to the hotel ostensibly to further the details of the alleged plot.

"Hello, there, Viljoen," said De Villers, thinking the latter had called on a friendly mission. The deputy constable immediately executed the arrest and the prisoner was taken to the County Jail in an automobile. At the jail no one was allowed to see the prisoner.

SOLDIERS SUN STRICKEN

More Than 300 Prostrations From Heat During March.

With ambulances filled to capacity and private conveyances pressed into service to carry the sick and footsore, and a record of more than 300 prostrations, the first separate brigade of 4000 men, General A. Mills commanding, struck camp at the fifty-mile point on its 500-mile hike from Galveston to Houston and return.

With the temperature registering from 97 to 106, the column of troops was stretched over a line of three miles, while ordinarily a brigade would march in a one-mile line. The scarcity of water made the men rebellious, and officers were hissed the moment their backs were turned.

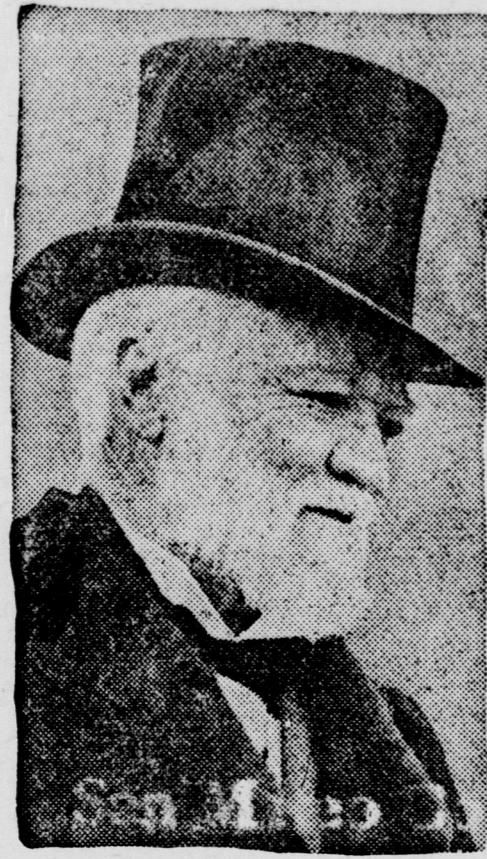

Men fell along the road bleeding at the nose and others fell in convulsions, but the hike was pressed on with the thermometer registering higher than it ever has at this season of the year.

The powdered limestone of the macadamized roads gave forth clouds of dust which stifled the parched throats of the soldiers who were too proud to give up until they fell by the wayside, or were pulled from the ranks by regimental surgeons, who did heroic service in trying to reduce the prostrations. At times more than one-half of this three-mile column was out of line, and the soldiers with feet bleeding from hard roads cursed their officers.

It is reported that Turkey has made an unsatisfactory reply to the Russian note of warning that the concentration of Turkish troops along the Montenegrin frontier since the Albanian outbreak constituted a serious menace to peace. This reply is said to be that there is no intention on the part of Turkey to attack Montenegro providing that country abstains from assisting the Albanian insurgents, closes her frontiers to refugees and refuses to shield refugees who already have crossed to Montenegro.

RACING CAR LEAVES A TRAIL OF BLOOD

One Killed and Six Injured in an Indianapolis Contest

One life was sacrificed and several men were injured Tuesday in the first 500-mile race on a speedway, won by Ray Harroun, driving a Marmon car, in 401 minutes and 8 seconds, at Indianapolis. Closely pressing Harroun for victory were Ralph Mulford, with a Lozier, who finished second, and David Bruce Brown, in a Fiat, a good third.

Seventy-seven thousand persons shouted encouragement to the forty pilots who started the race at 10 o'clock, and with unflagging enthusiasm cheered the leaders in the last laps and watched the field pound around the course in division of the lesser honors.

In the most serious accident of the day, S. P. Dickson of Chicago, mechanician for Arthur Greiner, driving an Amplex, lost his life in an upset on the back stretch. The race had been on but a few minutes and the Amplex was in its thirtieth mile when the rim of one of the front wheels flew off.

The car twisted on the track, hurling Grenier and Dickson from their seats. Dickson was thrown against a fence twenty feet away and was terribly mangled. He was killed instantly.

Grenier was unconscious when picked up, and it was feared he had concussion of the brain, but when revived at the field hospital it was found his only injury was a fractured arm.

Great Crowd Beyond Control.

The crowd was too large to be controlled by the militia and the hundreds of policemen posted about the grounds. The spectators swarmed across the infield when Dickson was killed and pressed close about his body and that of the unconscious Grenier. Soldiers fought to clear a space for the surgeons when the ambulance arrived.

The throng was wild with excitement after the first accident, and rushed back and forth over the field when other accidents were reported.

In the stand, men and women were on their feet for hours, cheering their favorites and groaning with apprehension when cars crashed into cars, or Occasionally certain events in which there is what we call romance need only to be put in story form to make them twin brothers to fiction. The following is an example:

Two men, apparently of the lower grade of Italians, sat chatting in a wine shop in Naples. The face and hands of one were begrimed with coal dust, for by the carrying of that fuel he earned his living; the other was not at the time following any especial calling.

"Gennaro," said the coal heaver, "tell me how to proceed to become a member of the Camorra."

"What do you mean by the Camorra?"

"Nonsense. I know that it exists and that you are a member of it."

"Well, Luigi, since you and I are close friends I will admit to you that I am a member of the Camorra. As to your getting into the society, you must prove yourself in full sympathy with its objects, which are to enable its members to commit crime and evade the law. Why do you wish to join it?"

"That I may live without work. Look at these hands and my face covered with dust. Do you suppose I like such occupation? But what can I do? If I steal a few lira and am caught I go to jail. But suppose I belong to your society. I steal a thousand lira. I am arrested. The police suspect or know that I am a member of the Camorra. He from whom I stole the money knows me and that I stole it. But he learns that if he testifies against me he will incur the displeasure of the society. When he is called upon to identify me he cannot remember that he ever saw me before. He pockets his loss, and I spend his money."

"Suppose I desire to remove some one who stands in my way. If I attempt it alone I suffer death; if supported by your society I am not convicted—I go free."

"By the bye, Gennaro, they say the police have got on to the truth as to the Cuocolo murder."

Gennaro smiled contemptuously. "The police know nothing about that matter. I know everything."

"Well, what do you know?" asked the other indifferently.

"Do you suppose I, who have taken an oath not to reveal the secrets of the Camorra, would tell you, an outsider, what I know about this affair? When you are a member of the society you will know such things for yourself."

"Oh, I care nothing about that matter. What I wish is to be able to live without work. I have a few soldi left. Let us have another liter of wine."

A month later Gennaro Abbatemaggio was arrested for some small theft, and Luigi Bucini went to see him in jail.

"How is it, Gennaro," said the latter, "that you are in jail? Is your society powerless to protect you?"

Gennaro smiled. "Do you suppose the Camorra risks interfering in petty affairs like this? But wait till I am tried. Then you shall see me walk out of court a greatly wronged man."

"Well, you see that I don't forget you, Gennaro. I have brought you some fruit, some bread and a liter of wine. I managed to get my hands on quite a large sum of money recently, and I promise you that I will keep you supplied with comforts as long as it lasts."

"You are a true friend to do that."

"What else can I do for you?"

"There is something I wish you could do for me, but that is impossible."

"What is it?"

"Luigi, I am in love."

"Now, my dear friend, you are showing that you have some affection for me. Tell me all about it. It may be that I can help you. Does she live here in Naples?"

"No; in Capua."

"What is her name?"

"Bianca."

"And what is that you would have me do for you that I cannot do?"

"Enable me to marry."

Luigi was silent for a time, then said:

"I have a surprise for you, Gennaro. I am able to place you in a position to marry your love. You have given me your confidence; I will give you mine. Know, then, my dear Gennaro, that this sum I spoke of getting my hands on is very large, and I covered my tracks so well that I am not even suspected. But I am placing myself in your hands by telling you of it. You can denounce me to the police and I shall spend my time in jail instead of my money in ease and comfort."

"Go on," said Gennaro impatiently.

"Very well. As soon as you get out of here I will divide my good luck with you. I will enable you to marry this Capua girl you love so well."

"Ah, my dear Luigi, what a man you are!" said Gennaro, grasping his friend's hand, "and how much I shall owe you! Neither Bianca nor I have a soldi to marry on, but if you can lend me enough to set up a shop I will live a life like other people and not feel in constant dread. This will make the girl I love as well as me happy."

"I will lend you what you need for a shop and enough to start you in housekeeping. Goodby. I hope soon to see you happy and comfortable."

The next time these two men met Gennaro was out of jail and they were sitting in the wine shop where they first conversed. Luigi was speaking.

"I have the money ready for you, my friend, to enable you to marry your Bianca."

"And what am I to do in return for this favor?"

"Nothing of any importance. You know I have long wished to become a member of the Camorra. I cannot do that without a leverage. But fortunately you can supply that."

"How?"

"Tell me what you know about the Cuocolo murder."

Gennaro winced. "That is impossible."

"Then I must remain outside the society, and when I am caught defying the law I must spend the best part of my life, as you have lately been spending a few weeks, in prison, or perhaps if I put an enemy out of the way I shall suffer death."

"But I can't understand why a knowledge of this murder is so necessary to your attaining an entrance to the Camorra."

"I will tell you. There are men in it who would oppose my admission. With a knowledge of the circumstances connected with this murder the society would not dare to reject me."

"I see. But what you ask for the favor you propose doing me is not the unimportant return you consider it. Suppose you should?"

"Betray you? Do you think so little of my friendship as that?"

"No, no, but I have sworn."

"What is an oath to such men as we? It is fear that holds us, and so long as you have nothing to fear from me what matters it?"

"I will think it over."

Luigi paid for the wine they had been drinking and in doing so pulled out a great roll of bills. Gennaro saw them and fell under the temptation.

"Come with me," he said, "down to the sea wall. We will get a boat, go out into the bay, where we shall not be heard, and I will tell you all."

* * * * *

In a small street in Capua preparations are being made for a wedding. The groom is our old friend Gennaro; the bride is his Bianca. Both are better dressed than they have ever been before, and a feast more savory than either has ever partaken of is set before them and their guests. Bianca's father, who would not permit her to marry Gennaro so long as he had no visible means of support, is now going about in a new suit of clothes purchased with money borrowed from Luigi Bucini, with a broad grin on his face. The last of the wedding supplies, a barrel of wine, is being removed from a cart to the house.

And now the wedding party have returned from the church and are sitting around the festal board. Every one is happy, except that the groom keeps looking out of the window expectantly. Luigi has promised to attend the wedding, but has not yet put in an appearance. Presently a man in the uniform of the national police turns into the street where he could be seen by Gennaro, approaches the house in which sat the wedding party, opens the door and walks in.

Had he been a specter he could not have created more consternation. The groom looked at him, and every vestige of color left his face.

"Luigi!" he faltered.

"Do not trouble yourself about this change in my costume," said the sergeant of carabiniers. "You and I are under the protection of the government. This wedding outfit and the capital with which you are to open your shop are advanced by his majesty the king. But more of this hereafter. For the present let us proceed with these wedding festivities."

Taking up a glass, he filled it with wine, held it aloft and said:

"To the health of our sovereign and the little bride."

The carabinier from that time passed under his real name, Capezzuti. Acting under the special orders of the king of Italy, he had undertaken to secure evidence in the Cuocolo murder case, with which the government proposed to attempt the breaking up of the celebrated Bella Suggieta Reformata (the Beautiful Reformed society), headed by Enrico Alfano. After the wedding festivities he took Gennaro into a private room, where they conversed for a long while. When they came out the groom was enlisted in the service of the government as a spy.

Probably no detective ever took greater risks during the period he was securing this important evidence than Capezzuti.

Notice of Sale by Referee in Partition.

Whereas, an interlocutory judgment in partition was given and made in and by the Superior Court of the county of San Mateo, state of California, on the second day of May, 1911, in that certain action then and now pending in said Superior Court, wherein James Maguire, Maud Gallagher, Frank Kelly, Charles Kelly, Clara Kelly, Thomas Kelly, John J. SAN BRUNO NEWS.

Mrs. H. F. Laumeister is visiting her son, Ed Follett, in San Jose.

Judge Davis made a business trip to Redwood City on Thursday.

Miss Nettie Willet of San Jose was here last Sunday visiting her mother and brother.

Andy Buerk paid a year's dues in advance to the San Mateo County Development Association.

J. J. Delaney and many friends of San Francisco attended the W. O. W. dance last Saturday night.

Green's Hall is being renovated and put in good shape for the Catholic fair to be held on June 22d, 23d and 24th.

Jos. Rehburn of Berkeley, and a writer on the San Francisco Post, has made his permanent home in Huntington Park.

Master Rickey of the San Bruno wheelmen sports a brand new horse and buggy and is envied by his acquaintances.

Monday evening, June 12th, the Wooldraft will give a whist party and dance at Green's Hall. Refreshments served. All invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyde Green spent Decoration Day at San Pedro. They drove over in their surrey and had a very pleasant trip.

The Teutonia Society of San Francisco had a jolly time at its dance in Green's Hall and picnic in Jenevein's Garden last Sunday.

The Methodist Sunday schools of San Bruno and South San Francisco had a splendid time at the picnic at Huntington last Tuesday.

Dan Lynch is in a San Mateo hospital having a job's comforter (a carbuncle) on the back of his neck treated. He is getting along nicely.

To-morrow (Sunday) Geo. Roy, in conjunction with the moving pictures, will give a vaudeville show. A special violin soloist will also appear.

Mrs. Catherine Pope of San Bruno Park had a close call to death the other day. She was in the act of stepping in front of a south bound San Mateo suburban electric car near the S. P. station, when she was warned just in time by Station Agent O'Connor, saving her from instant death.

Miss Olivet Grady visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Grady, in San Bruno from Saturday to Wednesday last and returned to Notre Dame college, San Jose.

The Union Spy lecture given last Saturday night by L. W. Simmons under the auspices of W. O. W. was well received and the dance was a success.

Lumber is moving and building has started. The local sewers are nearly completed and when lights are installed conditions in San Bruno will be materially improved.

Lester Commer, nephew of John Lloyd, of the state of Washington, is here for a few weeks visit. His many friends are glad to see him again. He has been away a year.

The Low family of Lomita Park has moved to their new home on the Mission road. Their old home is to be used in connection with the sanitarium located at that place.

In Justice Davis' court last Monday Geo. F. Flusser of Menlo Park and John Doe Murphy of Palo Alto were fined $25 each for fast auto speeding. The Bloom case is to-day going on.

Otto Bonneston of first addition has sold his home to Horace and Minnie N. Schouggue. Mr. Bonneston contemplates going into the dairy business. He and his good wife will be missed by their many San Bruno friends.

Mrs. M. L. Young of San Bruno Park met with a painful accident Thursday forenoon. She was staking her cow, which became frightened and ran away, pulling a chain through her hand cutting it severely. Dr. Smith attended to the injury.

A number of young people of the different tracts of San Bruno, in charge of Miss McNeil of Huntington Park, last Sunday tramped over the mountains to Salada Beach. They returned at 7 p. m. tired and hungry, but report having had a splendid time.

All the available men and teams are hard at work putting the boulevard in front of fourth addition and Lomita

Park in an up-to-date condition. Supervisor Casey says his one ambition is to have the roads in the first township as good if not better than those anywhere, far or near.

Yesterday a team hauling a wagon full of rock for the county road went down into a washout on San Mateo avenue in front of the postoffice caused by the high water last winter. The accident was caused by the road caving in alongside the washout. A fence on the roadside of the washout which was built and whitewashed by Supervisor Casey was broken.

To Let—Four-room cottage, partly furnished, $8; 4-room cottage, fine view, garden, $10; 3-room cottage, fifth addition, $6; 3-rooms, barn, fourth addition, $7; two others, $7 each. For Sale—One of the best built, up-to-date, homes in third addition, $2800; 3 room cottage, two highly improved lots on third addition nob hill, $1400. Bargains and trades of all kinds. J. M. Custer, San Bruno.

The San Bruno school question has been settled. The site has been selected and the sight of a school is there to prove it. But the San Brunonians are like the sea of Galilee, great storms quickly give place to imperturbability. The two years contention has been forgotten and we are interested now with a new comedy and new actors. We have two fire departments and no water, but they fire at each other, and between them keep the town hot. In fact it is a pity we haven't great issues at San Bruno because we certainly have great men to handle them, and the wonder is that so many politicians can live on so little politics. But if the fair is put at Tanforan we'll incorporate so as to keep South City out of it and so as to prevent the malaria from the marsh at Redwood City from infecting it. Then there will be a new Iliad.

Aunt Jerusha's mistake has little to do with the contemporaneous history of San Bruno. It is a comedy staged by Mrs. Law Vere and to be put on this Saturday night, the 3d of June, at Green's Auditorium. Mrs. Law Vere is Aunt Jerusha, J. Kirk is a niece to the Aunt. Mr. J. Linesba is Harry, Rob Valentine is Jack. The aunt wants the niece to take one, the niece wants the aunt to mind her own business, and thereby hangs a tale. There will be fancy dancing by Aileen Law Vere, vocal solo by Mrs. Powers and Miss Villion and an instrumental duet, piano and violin by Harold Burke and John Connolly. Dancing will be at ten and will continue till twelve at which hour the clock and the musicians will both strike.

Aunt Jerusha's Mistake is an episode in the coming Mission San Bruno fair. This soiree is under the auspices of the "Fish Pond" one of the booths and it is engineered by Mesdames Sandberg, Palmer and Keane assisted by Messrs. Power and Brady. The fair will be in the third week of June. OBSERVER.

A TALE OF CRIME
TOLD BY WILD MAN

From the trusty prisoners in the county jail a weird story of murder, as related by Juan Gaizi, the wild man of the San Bruno hills, is told. Its possible connection with the finding of the remains of a man in a shallow grave in the hills a few miles north of this city is being investigated. However, the story, Sheriff Mansfield believes, is in line with the other insane chatter of the prisoner; but, at the same time, he believes that there may be some connection between the finding of the body and the strange habits of the hermit of the hills.

Soon after he was arrested for disturbing the peace in his lonely surroundings, Gaizi is declared to have told of a murder committed by him. The story, as he related it, was of a feud between him and another wild man who lived in a gulch near the one in which Gaizi took his siesta.

The snores of the second wild man, deep and resonant, reverberated through the hills and disturbed the slumbers of the wild man, Gaizi. According to the prisoner, he became so annoyed by the loud snoring of his neighbor in the next gulch that he decided to put a stop to the racket.

Arming himself with a big ax in the dead of night several months ago, he picked his way over the hills, and, guided by the snores, reached the bedside of the second wild man on a mossy bank in the canyon. While his victim snored on, Gaizi says, he struck him with the ax. That effectually stopped the snoring and, Gaizi believes, it must have ended the life of his wild man neighbor.

Last Sunday when the story told the trusty prisoners became known, Gaizi was asked to go into details. He was asked what he did with the body of the snoring neighbor and to tell if he knew the name of his victim. Gaizi, apparently sane before being questioned, fell back into one of his insane fits when the questions were put to him and no explanation was obtainable.

Sheriff Mansfield said Sunday that as soon as Gaizi completes his sentence in the county jail, whence he will be liberated June 14th, he will take the man out into the hills to get from him a story of his life there, with the idea that he may be able to find out something about the murder of the man whose remains were found in the shallow grave.

Coroner H. G. Plymire made a further examination of the skeleton at Sneider's undertaking establishment at San Mateo Sunday, but found no additional marks that might serve to clear up the mystery of the dead man's identity.
